Breach of Censor Rules Is Charged Against Magazine

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—(AP)—German war prisoners at Bowmanville, Ont., attempted to resist reprisal shacklings Oct. 10 and submitted only after serious disorders in which both prisoners and guards were injured, the Canadian government announced last night.

Some of the prisoners, a statement by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston disclosed, barricaded themselves in their barracks and refused to obey orders until guards chopped a hole in the roof and sprayed them with a fire hose. One prisoner was wounded in the leg by a rifle bullet and two suffered light bayonet wounds, Ralston said. He described other injuries as mostly of a minor character.

"Mild resistance" to the shackling order was shown at one other camp, but no trouble was encountered at any of the remaining 15 prison camps in Canada, Ralston added.

The shackling order was issued by the Canadian government as a reprisal measure after the Germans had announced they had fettered 1,375 British officers and men captured in the Dieppe raid Aug. 19. As Canadians made up five-sixths of the army force participating in that action it was assumed that most of those chained by the Germans were Canadians.

Withheld from Press

The story of the disorders at the Bowmanville camp was withheld from publication until last night with the object, it was declared, of preventing garbled reports from reaching Germany and giving the Axis an excuse for further reprisals against Canadian soldiers now being held as prisoners.

There was no shooting, Ralston said, except for four rifle shots fired in warning after the prisoners had "seized and brutally assaulted an officer of the guard."

Ralston's statement apparently was provoked by a story on the Bowmanville disorders which appeared in the current issue of Time magazine, causing the Canadian legation in Washington to make official representations to United States authorities yesterday on the ground it constituted a serious breach of censorship regulations.

The representations asked a full investigation of the source of the information on which the story was based and how it was transmitted across the border.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 23.—Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the House of Commons and member of the war cabinet who last spring made an ineffectual attempt to persuade Indian factions to accept the British government's offer of dominion status has given me an interview turning new light on this dispute which involves the independence of close to 400,000,000 people.

Sir Stafford says the key to the situation is Mohandas K. Gandhi's persistent support of the policy of non-violence.

The point made is that it is impossible for Gandhi's personal adherents to participate in any government, no matter what its nature, which wages war. Thus England, which is in the midst of a life and death struggle, is asked to countenance an Indian government that not only would not fight, but might even insist on making peace with Britain's enemies.

"I don't believe that Gandhi, who wasn't present when the decision was taken, was personally responsible for the rejection of the government's proposal," Sir Stafford added.

"However, his influence and ideas dominated those of the working committee of the All-India Congress, who did turn down the offer. We must have the agreement of the congress for any solution."

Now if Sir Stafford's estimate of the position is correct, it makes much more easily understandable one of the world's most complicated problems. Heretofore all sorts of involved reasons have been advanced by various disputants to explain the failure to agree. This new explanation, calculated to show that the imbroglio is revolving on a single pivot, is easy to see.

Next to Prime Minister Churchill, Sir Stafford is probably the most talked of man in Britain. Some of his political opponents tried to make capital of his failure to achieve an agreement in India, but his stock seems to rate

Senate Passage of Youths-Draft Bill By Night Expected

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) told his colleagues today he was opposed to "calling of children to fight our battles" in the first open senate opposition to legislation for drafting 18 and 19-year-olds.

The white-haired Californian, a pre-Pearl Harbor opponent of the administration's foreign policies, declared that passage of the legislation meant many children were going to be sent to death in foreign parts of the world.

Asserting that no man wanted more to win the war than he, Johnson said he could not stand idly by and see a generation decimated. He had no doubt, he said, that the 18 and 19 year olds were ready to fight.

"Of course, they are willing to do anything," he declared. "Of course they are willing to fight at the drop of the hat. They are adventuresome and dare-devilish."

"Should Be Protected"

"That is the very reason we

Japanese Threats Are of No Effect

New Delhi India, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Japanese announcement of intentions to court-martial American "bomb-Japan" pilots brought an immediate Japanese language broadcast from the British in India today asserting that "no threats of this sort will have the slightest effect on allied war strategy nor will allied pilots take any notice of terrorist methods."

The broadcast demanded that the Japanese supply the location of school and hospitals so they can be avoided by bomber crews.

It recalled that Japan had bombed China's cities relentlessly and that the Japanese had requested the evacuation of Nanking preparatory to bombing of the now-occupied Capital of China.

"On this analogy," the broadcast continued, "the allies now have every right because of the Japanese example, to demand the evacuation of all civilians from Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, Kobe and other big cities."

Mystery Surrounds Deaths of 2 Women in Rich Man's Home

Police Think Robbery Not Motive for Evans-ton Murders

Evans-ton, Ill., Oct. 23.—(AP)—A physician's report that a wealthy woman was clubbed on the head after having been shot to death led investigators to believe today that robbery was not the motive for the brutal slaying of the woman and her maid.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of state's attorney's police expressed this conviction after studying a report of Dr. Thomas Carter, coroner's physician, on the deaths of Mrs. Lillian Galvin, 45, wife of Paul V. Galvin, radio manufacturer, and her maid, Miss Edna Sibelski, 30, a farmer's daughter.

Dr. Carter reported Mrs. Galvin had been struck three times on the back of the head with the death weapon after she was dead. She was shot through the back. Miss Sibelski was dying when she was beaten similarly, the physician stated.

The captain said this prompted him to believe robbery was not the motive although Mrs. Galvin's son, Robert, 20, who found the bodies last night in the living room of their fashionable suburban home, reported a valuable diamond ring and bracelet were missing.

Gilbert also expressed a conviction that the attractive Mrs. Galvin and her maid knew the person who shot them. Her body was found clad in a housecoat over her nightgown, house slippers and anklets.

Police Theory of Crime

He said he did not believe Mrs. Galvin would have left her breakfast table so attired to talk to a stranger but would have relayed whatever message she desired through her maid.

Mrs. Galvin took her breakfast late. Miss Sibelski, whose body was clad in a maid's uniform, had been at her duties for several hours before serving Mrs. Galvin. Robert said his mother was asleep when he left home at 7:45 a. m. for school. The maid gave him his breakfast.

When he returned at 6:45 p. m. he found the family's pet dog, which has a bed in the kitchen and free run of the house, locked in the basement and whining. The only light burning was in the pantry.

Extensive examination of the residence for fingerprints produced only those of members of the family. The back door was locked and a safety chain was in place. All windows were shut and locked.

Husband Expected Today

Police theorized Miss Sibelski answered the front door and left to inform Mrs. Galvin of the identity of the person who entered. Mrs. Galvin came to the living room where the killings occurred.

Liberty Ship May Be Christened by Lee County Pupil

The Lee county "Scrap for Victory" campaign, conducted by the students of all schools of the county, may offer some boy or girl and his teacher the opportunity of christening a "Liberty" ship in the near future, with all expenses paid from their homes to the port of launching and return, according to Superintendent of Schools John Torrens, who today received from Springfield the rules which will govern the selection of the boy or girl to perform this coveted task.

All schools of the county may participate in selecting the name of the Liberty ship to be christened by the school children of Illinois. Names submitted by the children are limited to the names of distinguished former citizens of Illinois (poets, statesmen, historians, soldiers, etc.) The names should be in the hands of the Superintendent of Public Instruction at Springfield by October 31st.

From the list of names sent to the state superintendent, the state committee will select three names to be submitted to the Maritime Commission. The committee is composed of Governor Dwight H. Green; Nathaniel Leverone, chairman of the state salvage committee; and John A. Wiesner, state superintendent of public instruction.

Drive Closes Saturday

Each school will report the total poundage of scrap metal collected to County Superintendent Torrens, the average number of pounds per pupil and from the salvage records of the respective schools the state committee will select the three largest amounts by weight respectively per pupil.

The principal or teacher will then have the pupils select the boy or girl in the school who has been most helpful in the scrap campaign.

The "Scrap for Victory" campaign officially closes tomorrow, Saturday, Oct. 24, but students have the opportunity of a last minute cleanup over the weekend, but the certificates of patriotism may be returned to the teachers for certification not later than Tuesday.

A survey of the campaign in the county conducted by an Evening Telegraph representative today indicated that more than 100 tons of scrap metals have been collected by the school students. A preliminary report in Dixon indicated that more than 27,000 pounds had been collected and at

Soar 1,500 Miles to Bomb Genoa, Turin; Accomplish Mission

Russian Army Gains on Stalingrad's Flank; Other War News

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Britain's giant bombers spread air-raid alarms across Europe before dawn today as they soared 1,500 miles round trip over the Alps to blast the Italian war frontiers city of Genoa and the big royal arsenal center of Turin.

The Italian high command said the RAF inflicted heavy damage to buildings at Genoa in a raid of "notable dimensions" and set fires in Turin.

First reports indicated that the attack was executed by the RAF's newest four-motored Lancasters and Stirlings, each capable of carrying up to four tons of bombs on long-range forays.

Genoa is the home of the big Ansaldo munitions and airplane works. It is also a main port for supplying the axis armies in North Africa.

"Not one of our aircraft is missing," the British announced. It was the first raid on Italy by Britain-based bombers in more than six months.

An Italian communique said the RAF attacked Genoa in several waves, dropping incendiary and high-explosive bombs.

"Casualties are still being counted," the communique said, indicating that the loss of life was heavy.

Nazis Suffer Setbacks

On the soviet front, Adolf Hitler's armies suffered jarring new setbacks in the 6-day-old siege of Stalingrad as the Russians announced they had broken up a tank-led nazi assault in a north-western factory district, captured a major position in the Don-Volga corridor, and seized the initiative inside the city.

It was the fourth straight day since the last soviet retreat. Soviet dispatches declared that Russian marines had killed more than 300 axis troops in a battle southeast of Novorossisk, and killed 150 others in the successful defense of a height.

The Russians further reported they had smashed a nazi wedge which briefly imperiled their first-line defenses in the Mozdok sector, gateway to the Grozny oil fields, in the central Caucasus.

By all accounts, the picture was brightening rapidly for the defenders of Stalingrad as winter's

First Lady Guest of Royal Family of Great Britain

London, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the guest of Britain's king and queen, arrived in Britain today accompanied by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, director of the WAACs.

After a brief, smiling chat with their majesties at the railroad station where Mrs. Roosevelt presented Mrs. Hobby to Queen Elizabeth and, in turn, herself met Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the First Lady drove away with the British rulers amid the cheers of a crowd.

Mrs. Roosevelt's arrival after flying the Atlantic was announced by Buckingham palace with the explanation that she came, on royal invitation, "to gain first hand knowledge of British women's war activities and to visit United States forces in Great Britain."

She drove away with the king and queen in a royal black limousine to an unannounced destination. Mrs. Hobby and Miss Malvina Thompson, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, followed in another car.

Mrs. Roosevelt expected to stay two or three weeks and inspect every phase of the British war effort she can in that limited time.

Royal Announcement

The announcement from the royal palace said: "Mrs. Roosevelt has arrived in this country at the invitation of the king and queen in order to gain first-hand knowledge of British women's war activities and to visit the United States forces in Great Britain."

Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Miss Malvina Thompson, will be the guest of the king and queen

Kansas City, Oct. 23.—(AP)—An 18-year-old youth arrested at 2:30 a. m. for speeding at least should be credited with originality.

"I was hurrying to Leavenworth to visit a soldier friend of mine. He's been hurt," was the breathless explanation of why he had been traveling at a 70-mile-an-hour clip.

And how had the injury occurred? demanded the doubting cop.

Steady Bombing of Jap Fleet Holding Up Invasion Effort

Enemy "Feeler" Attack on Guadalcanal Is Repulsed at Once

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Persistent allied air bombardment of a large Japanese war fleet in the southwestern Pacific appeared today to have thrown a long expected Nipponese invasion thrust off schedule while giving Americans valuable time to bolster their forces in the Solomons.

Rendezvousing in the northern Solomon islands about 10 days ago, the enemy warships and transports have been the target for an almost constant rain of allied aerial bombs as they waited the zero hour to surge toward the prized American-held airbase on Guadalcanal island.

The latest attack on the enemy ship concentration came last night (Australian time) when allied bombers under Gen Douglas MacArthur's Australian command dumped 10 tons of explosives on Japanese vessels at Buin at the southern tip of Bougainville island.

"Feeler" Repulsed

Meantime, the Navy disclosed that Japanese troops in the heavy jungle on northern Guadalcanal had attempted a minor thrust at the American positions on Oct. 20. The "feeler" was repulsed and the Navy said yesterday there was no "material change in the military situation" there.

An enemy bomber believed to have been on a reconnaissance mission over the island, was brought down by anti-aircraft fire. The United States aircraft continued to seek out and bomb Japanese troops and supply concentrations on Guadalcanal.

Since the heavy Nipponese naval concentrations were first observed in the islands a major enemy effort to recapture the airfield, seized by U. S. Marines early in August, had been expected momentarily.

Moresby Attacked

Communices of both MacArthur and the Navy have reported air attacks on the vessels. The Navy declared that U. S. planes and warships have sunk or damaged four Japanese cruisers, nine destroyers and six transports since Oct. 13.

MacArthur's headquarters also reported last night that three Japanese bombers made a night raid on Port Moresby, the strong ally base on the southern coast of New Guinea, but caused neither damage nor casualties.

Australian troops, meanwhile, continued to push the enemy's attempted invasion of Port Moresby back toward Kokoda between the allied base and the enemy's base at Buna on the north coast.

Germans Threaten to Use Force to Recruit Skilled French Labor

Vichy, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The threat of force was invoked by German occupation authorities in Paris as they stepped up efforts today to recruit skilled French workers for labor in Germany's war industries.

Issuance of the threat by the German commander for Greater Paris followed the non-appearance of a group of workers directed to appear at a railway station yesterday for transportation to the Reich.

Another batch of workers immediately was ordered to report today, along with the warning that those who failed to heed the instructions would "expose themselves to forceful measures."

The warning came as Pierre Laval returned to Vichy from talks with German officials in Paris.

Laval at once went into conference with Jacques Barnaud, who is in charge of French-German economic relations, Marshal Petain and Fernand de Brinon, Vichy ambassador to Paris.

Find Open Verdict in Death of Woman

Loyal, Wis., Oct. 23.—(AP)—A coroner's jury returned an open verdict yesterday following an inquest into the death of Mrs. Harold Holub, 29, of Waukegan, Ill., who was found shot to death last Tuesday.

Mrs. Holub's body was found in the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Groh. She had been wounded by a shotgun charge. The weapon lay beside her body.

Millionth Ton of Bombs Will Soon Be Dropped on Kiska

Headquarters, Alaska Defense Command, Oct. 23.—(AP)—American airmen are ready to drop their millionth pound of projectiles on bomb-blasted Kiska.

Since the middle of June, when aerial attacks began against the Japanese-occupied island, the tempo of bombing, torpedoing and machine gunning has been steadily increasing until now the delivery of 12 tons of bombs daily is not at all unusual.

MAKE no mistake, the Army of the United States is going back to Bataan. It's going to put the cocky Jap army to headlong flight. Immortal Corregidor will again see our flag flying proudly overhead. We're going to hit the Axis in every part of the world. And some day the streets of Berlin will echo to the clatter of American "tank busters." Don't you want to be there?

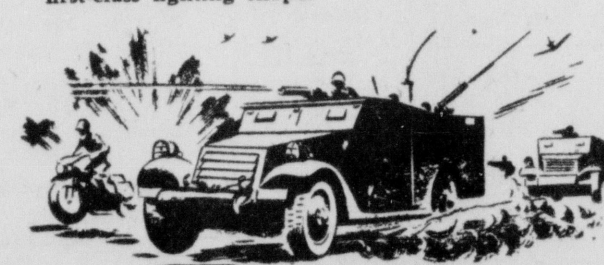

You young Americans—the hardest hitting, toughest fighting team in the world—have got the stuff to help bring this about. Today the Army offers you, before your 20th birthday, the privilege of selecting any one of 13 different branches in which to get into this fight. Read about them. Talk them over with your family and get full information at your nearest Army Recruiting and Induction Station.

AIR FORCES—Here you have splendid opportunities—more than 26 highly specialized jobs—mechanics and radio men, bombardiers, pilots, navigators, gunners, aerial photographers; flying in planes, gliders or serving on the ground. Or, if you're skilled with tools, you can gain first-hand knowledge and experience serving the fastest, finest planes on earth. It's all great training for a career in the mighty field of aviation.

ARMORED FORCE—This is the team of gunners, drivers and radio operators that smashes hard at the enemy in mammoth tanks and armored cars... roars over the countryside on husky motorcycles... cuts across fields in bronco-busting "jeeps"... rolls up to battle in huge, powerful trucks. If you're mechanically minded, you may get plenty of action and training keeping these modern implements of war in first-class fighting shape.

CAVALRY—Strike—and strike hard! Our modern Cavalry is equipped to do it. The finest horses trained for the toughest terrain, armored cars, motorcycles, special trucks, machine guns, light mortars, radios—these are your "tools" for battle in this branch of the Army. They need men to ride and fight them. And they need men to maintain them. The rougher the going, the better the Cavalry likes it.

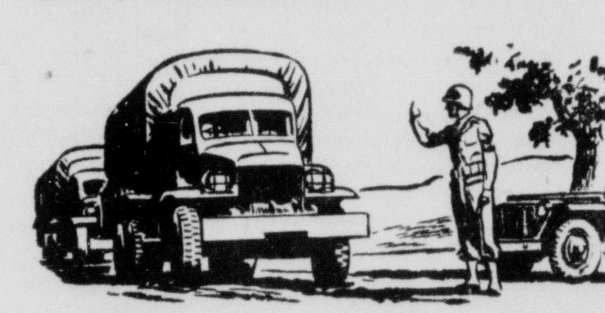

CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE—You do not need an advanced knowledge of chemistry to join this vital branch of the Army. Here you become a combat soldier firing chemical munitions. One of your principal weapons is the 4.2-inch chemical mortar used for smoke screens to cover the advance of troops. You'll be working with the newest developments in chemical warfare.

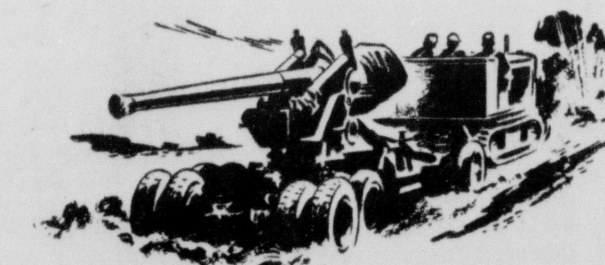

COAST ARTILLERY CORPS—The Coast Artillery includes both world-wide anti-aircraft service and harbor and shore defenses. Around the world, they're knocking the enemy out of the sky... peppering our harbor waters with deadly mines against hostile ships. Gunners are manning anti-aircraft guns, big-caliber railway guns and tractor-drawn 155's. Here's thrilling experience, in gunnery and seamanship, and in electrical and radio fields too.

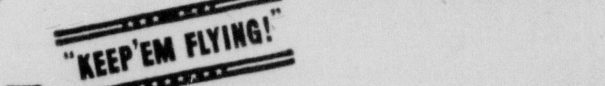

CORPS OF ENGINEERS—Build and destroy—you learn how to do both in the Corps of Engineers. Build to pave the way for our Army... destroy to obstruct the enemy. Bridges, roads, tank traps, camouflage—you build 'em all. You operate railroads. In powerful assault boats of the Amphibian Command you carry troops to secret attack. Engineers are trained to fight and they see plenty of action.

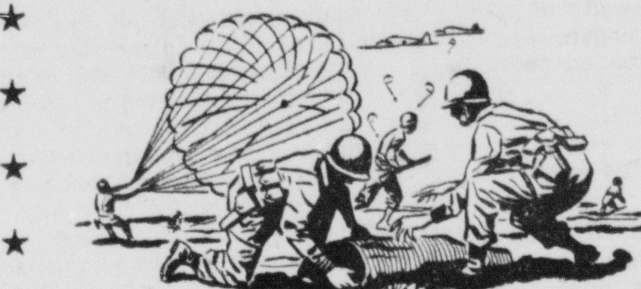

CORPS OF MILITARY POLICE—These are the men who expedite mass movements of troops by skillful regulation of traffic... up at the front and on highways at home. They're the ones responsible for controlling prisoners of war. They are men of integrity who maintain law and order wherever the Army goes. And they're trained to operate as tactical units in battle when needed.

FIELD ARTILLERY—In this branch you can become one of the team that hurls the huge shells which soften up the foe... split wide open his supply lines... scatter his reserves under a hail of fire and pave the way for "the kill" by your own Infantry and Armored Force. Today's Field Artillery is a fast-moving group of men who know how to deliver telling blows where it hurts the enemy the most.

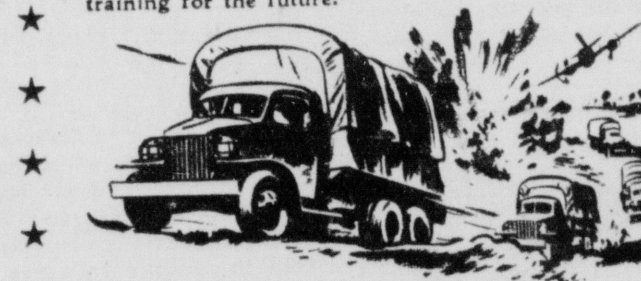

SIGNAL CORPS—In the Signal Corps you are away ahead of the action—the eyes and ears of war. Lightning-speed communication is your job. The ultra-modern in radio transmitters and receivers, "Electronic Sentries," "Walkie-Talkies" and scores of other closely guarded secret devices are yours to assemble, install and operate. There's no better training for one of the most promising after-the-war industries... no more exciting branch of the service.

INFANTRY—Roaring to the front in big trucks, skiing down snowy mountain slopes, floating to earth by parachute or flying into enemy territory in big transport planes, today's Infantry is streamlined. With the terrific fire-power of eleven different weapons, it's more than ever "the backbone of the Army." Upon enlistment in the Infantry, you may request assignment for tank destroyer training.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT—Wherever our soldiers go, on training maneuvers or up to the front, the Medical Department goes along to care for their health, and help save lives. There are hundreds of responsible positions for enlisted men in this department. Ambulance drivers, laboratory specialists, pharmacists, X-ray operators, dental technicians, veterinary assistants—these and many more will find action and splendid training for the future.

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT—Implements of war, large and small, are supplied and serviced by the Ordnance Department—tanks, tractors, trucks, giant field and harbor defense guns, grenades, small arms, and even optical instruments. And there's plenty of action in the field for the trained specialists whose job it is to keep every piece of equipment in fighting trim.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS—Soldiers in the front line depend on supply units to keep them in battle. Food. Shelter. Clothing. Equipment for special climates and tasks, all the way from men are fighting, the Quartermaster soldier is on the job. The enlisted man may learn one or more of some 70 valuable trades in the Quartermaster Corps.

SIGNAL CORPS—In the Signal Corps you are away ahead of the action—the eyes and ears of war. Lightning-speed communication is your job. The ultra-modern in radio transmitters and receivers, "Electronic Sentries," "Walkie-Talkies" and scores of other closely guarded secret devices are yours to assemble, install and operate. There's no better training for one of the most promising after-the-war industries... no more exciting branch of the service.

Today's nuptial news concerns the wedding plans of a Dixon young woman who has been employed in Chicago, and a Dixon young man, who is now an Ensign in the United States Navy and recently completed an indoctrination course at Harvard. Dixon Women Are Hostesses to Attorneys' Wives

Not only the men who are affiliated with the Sixth District Federation of the Illinois Bar association were interested in yesterday's gathering of the sixth supreme judicial district lawyers, whenever their husbands plan a conclave.

Yesterday morning, the out of town wives were greeted by the Dixon hostesses at the Loveland Community House, and after introductions in the ladies' lounge, the caravan of automobiles set out for Grand Detour, where luncheon was served at Beck's Landmark tea room. The village's historic stone chapel, St. Peter's Episcopal church, was visited before the party resumed an itinerary which took the visitors to the White Pines Forest state park and Lowell park.

Visits to Dixon's antique shops were included on the afternoon program, with tea at Crawford's antique shop climaxing the day's outing.

In the group were Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Langworthy of Winnetka, Mrs. Harry Wheat of Freeport, Mrs. Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, Mrs. Snively of Rockford, Mrs. David R. A Thought for Today

For he that will live life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile.—Peter 3:10.

Many receive advice, only the wise profit by it.—Syrrus.

Ko-Ko Up to Date

On a tree by a river a little tom-tit sang "Willow, Petrillo, Petrillo!" And I said to him, "Dickey bird, why do you sit 'Singing Willow, Petrillo, Petrillo?' " "Is it weakness of intellect, Birdies?" I cried "Or a rather tough worm in your little inside?" With a shake of his poor little head he replied, "Oh Willow, Petrillo, Petrillo!" He slapped at his chest as he sat on that bough, Singing Willow, Petrillo, Petrillo! And a cold perspiration bespangled his brow, Oh Willow, Petrillo, Petrillo! He sobbed and he sighed and a gurgle he gave. Then he plunged himself into the billowy wave And an echo arose from the suicide's grave, "Oh Willow Petrillo, Petrillo!"

Another Muddle in the Making

Everybody remembers most circumstances of what has been described as the "rubber muddle," which was brought about by letting things drift until they got so bad something had to be done at once. Thereupon the president appointed the Baruch committee, which labeled the drifting as unfortunate, and made recommendations based on fact-finding. In a degree these unfortunate circumstances were made worse by the insistence of such world-remodelers as Vice President Wallace, who didn't want establishment of an American rubber-production industry. He was afraid some one would ask for tariff protection—which would be natural, legal and in line with what other countries have done for themselves.

Now apparently we are in the midst of preparations for another muddle. The circumstances could be investigated completely now; facts could be sought out by an unbiased commission, and the things could be done now which ultimately will have to be done anyhow, unless the war ends suddenly. We refer to the farm muddle. It is necessary that the people eat. Food is vital. Tires are necessary, but lack of sufficient and properly-balanced food would mean malnutrition or perhaps actual starvation in some cases.

Crops are rotting in fields because of shortage of farm hands. Dairy cattle are being auctioned for beef for lack of dairy hands. Farms by the hundreds are being disposed of because the owners want to move to the cities and take more profitable jobs. Apologists for the situation say that if cattle are being sold, then there must be buyers and a cow is a cow, no matter whether she is milked by Smith or Jones. But not, we suggest, if she is milked by the packers. A farm is a farm too, whether it is owned by Brown or Mr. Green—but it may not be tilted if the latter happens to be a speculator.

In yesterday's news appeared a suggestion that whipping cream may need to be rationed—and that butterfat requirements may have to be reduced. A dairyman at Seattle advertised for a dairy hand at $175 a month plus board and room, and received not a single application.

Psychology of Victory

Mr. Eric A. Johnston, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and also a member of the Economic Stabilization Board, objects to assertions that we are losing the war.

He wants us to forget all that and spread the "psychology of victory." He thinks that recent statements by national leaders show a negative attitude which tends to poison the hopes of workers and of the general public.

We think Mr. Johnston is dangerously wrong. We cannot comprehend how any man of Mr. Johnston's intelligence, in his preferred position to know the facts, could deliberately stick his head into the sand and blissfully ignore all that is going on around him.

Assistant Navy Secretary Ralph A. Bard told a Labor convention recently:

"We are losing the war, period. We damn well mean it, period."

Mr. Bard is right—correct in his facts and sound in his approach to public psychology. Mr. Johnston is wrong on both counts.

The attitude urged by Mr. Johnston is a principal reason why "we are losing the war, period."

For years we patted ourselves on the backs, as Mr. Johnston wants us to keep on doing, because "we are the greatest industrial nation on earth, possessing more of the resources, the technical skill and the plant capacity to produce the machines of war than all of our enemies combined. We are the people who brought this age of mechanics to its present high pitch, and mechanized war is our dish."

Sure, we're a great nation. We admit it. But Germany and Japan possessed the tanks, the planes, the guns, the trained soldiers, the blueprints for modernized warfare, while we still were pipe-dreaming about how smart we were and how we could get those things if we should need them.

We couldn't fight a 1941-42 war with the weapons we believe we can produce by 1943 or 1944, so we had to let Japan take most of the Pacific from us, and even plant her forces in the Aleutians.

We were so over-confident that we weren't ready. Therefore we are losing this war, period. And we damn well mean it, period.

We can win, if that is what Mr. Johnston has in mind. We can win if we recognize we are losing, and if we will to win more than we will to retain our creature comforts, our social gains, our class hatreds, our political positions—our individual lives, even.

The scrap metal drive did more than one big thing. Now it will be harder for mother to put father on the pan.

It's home, sweet home when the housewife does her dishes to hum, sweet hum.

It's easy to see through people who make spectacles of themselves.

PLAY BY PLAY

BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Blythe Miller, enigmatic, follows a stranger to the apartment of Nancy Hale at Lincoln field. Nancy is a pretty young widow of a soldier, and was brought to the field with her young son, homeless and penniless, after being hurt in an auto accident. She falls in love with Duane Hogan, cadet pilot and a star of the football team coached by Blythe's father, Pop Miller. Blythe also loves Duane and is jealous. But her jealousy when, listening from the stairway, she hears the stranger offer Nancy $1000.

FRIGHTENED EAVESDROPPER

CHAPTER XII

IT was strictly 100 per cent none of Blythe's business. Her own conscience told her that. Her sense of guilt jabbed at her like an angry Jimmy Cricket. She was more than butting in, she was downright snooping. And yet—

Girls and women have a peculiar sixth sense which the scientists don't explain, and which men (when they experience it) call masculine brains. Pop had often wisecracked about it, Blythe remembered; teased her about it, when she complimented his astuteness at doping out football games. Right now, she didn't try to analyze it. She just stood still and listened to the conversation up there at the head of the stairs.

"What in the world are you talking about?" Nancy Hale was obviously astounded.

The overcast man kept oil in his voice. "Now, now, sister! Take it easy, and understand! A thousand bucks don't grow on bushes. But you got it here right in your hand. See?"

"But—but—" "How much pay you got being a steno, huh? Maybe one hundred. Say one fifty. Huh! A lousy 1800 bucks a year! But here's pretty near a year's pay, and you can earn it for working on the quiet just one hour. Easy!"

There was a pause. Perhaps to let his temptation sink in. Blythe's curiosity, like a steam valve, was nearing the point of explosive pressure. Curiosity and intuitive fear combined. Fear for what? For Nancy. For Pop. For the Lincoln field and the Lincoln team. For herself. Or—for something! She couldn't have pinned it down.

THE voice became lower, more ingratiatingly intimate. "I—body seen me come here. Nobody'll see me go away. Understand? Now look, you got a little kid to support. Cute little boy—yea-a-a-ah!" The last was disgustingly unctuous in tone. Unctuous and brassy "You ain't got no jack to speak of. No husband. No future, eh? Unless—look, not even a drop of danger in this. Ain't like we was asking you to do a big job with the mob or something, or even work downtown. What you do is right here in your living room. Home work, yea-a-a-ah!" He tacked on a throaty chuckle.

"Please—what is it all about?" Nancy pleaded that.

"You want take up the proposition?" "If it's a chance to earn a thousand dollars, of course I do. Do you want to come in and sit down?"

"Not me, sis!" He spoke warily. "Don't need to. But okay—look, I represent the boys, see? The boys downtown."

"What boys?" "Oh, some of the boys. Buncha fellows. Good fella, see? You'd like 'em, yea-a-a-ah. They'd like you. They said so. You might want get acquainted later. Be worth your while, see? Girl with your looks. Your brains. Yea-a-a-ah! Like you myself!"

He added that last as if it were the ultimate compliment he could pay Nancy. Blythe peeked up around the stairway L again, cautiously. Sure enough, he wore the silly grin that predatory men use when approaching a woman. Blythe herself had seen it. It added to her apprehension now. Apprehension for Nancy and everything else.

"Are you—is that what you mean?" Nancy emphasized the "that," hard tone.

"No, no—wait! Don't get me wrong! I was just telling you; I like you, see? Like you myself. You got what it takes. But I ain't."

"All right for that part. I suppose I feel honored, having a man tell me he likes me. But what has it to do with the money, may I ask?"

Blythe felt surprised that Nancy could be so cool. She herself would have been jittery under such circumstances, she knew. But then—Nancy Hale was a few years older. Older, and far more experienced. Nancy had been married. Nancy's husband had been slain at Pearl Harbor. Nancy had had a baby, had fought the hunger wolf for months, had been in an automobile wreck that might have killed her, had swung high and swung low in the scale of human emotions. It all made Blythe regard the other girl with a kind of awe. She strained again to hear how Nancy would handle this acute situation.

"Now listen," the man said, still oily.

"You know my name and I don't know yours," Nancy pointed out. "My name don't matter. Just say I'm a friend. Maybe later, we can get acquainted—like to take you out sometimes—yea-a-a-ah! But right now it's business, see."

"Will you please come to the point?"

"How's about it? You want the dough?"

"Of course I want money. I need it."

His voice took on a cutting tone. "No monkey business! The boys—they ain't fooling. They're mad as hell!"

That stumped Nancy, and Blythe felt a tinge of new excitement, too.

"What do you mean?" Nancy demanded. "I don't like—"

"Okay, okay, I'm just warning you. We got ripped last week, and we're getting that cared for, in due time. That Miller—but look, Here's what you gotta do!"

THE word Miller froze Blythe. He must mean Pop! He must, truly, be associated some way with that fat envelope in Pop's desk, and with the rare anger she had discovered in Pop that day almost a week ago. Pop was home sick in bed today. This stranger had made an unmistakable threat against her Pop!

"Here's what you gotta do and you're gonna do it for the grand," the stranger was saying. Blythe heard every word. "The boys downtown like to have their own little games, see. Don't harm nobody. Matter of fact, don't make a damn in the long run who wins a football game. Forget in a week anyhow, ain't it? You know that. He was being oily again. "Whole thing's done in fun out here. . . . Just kids playin', see. Not important, see. Game might's well go one way's another. Cadets, from all over. This school, and that. See what I mean? Now look—"

Blythe strained, her pulse thumping like an ack-ack there in the dark hall.

"Look, what you gotta do is see to it the right side wins Thursday. The State game. We can fix it easy. You got them two Jones on your string. Hogan and Dana. They're the main aces, you know that, sister. All you gotta do is invite 'em both up here the night before, feed 'em a little quiet dinner, and drop a little rest pill in their tea! . . . Yeah-a-a-ah! Easy, see? Nobody ever know it. Do 'em no harm. Just slow 'em down for about a day, see? And one thousand bucks!"

Amazing instances of stupid draftings made by local boards have been accumulated in little-noticed congressional hearings. General Marshall told of finding in a North Carolina hospital a recent draftee 48-years-old with an

An irreplaceable mechanic of six years experience in a vital war industry was drafted because he was only recently married, while a married bookkeeper in the same office was left on a job which could be easily filled by a woman.

Every time Draft Director Hershey makes a speech prophesying that further heavy withdrawals of manpower will be made for the Army, single men or even married men in defense industries run out and enlist to obtain preferred positions.

But the local boards pay less attention apparently to General Hershey's orders. Each has its own localized problem and acts in its own individual way.

It is apparent the draft law does not make sense.

Now the Tolson committee of the house has come forward with a report recommending that the situation be cured by establishing a new over-all governmental agency, an Office of War Mobilization.

Apparently it wants this manpower agency vastly organized on a "regional, district and local office level," but would leave to it the details of working out the problem. All it wants the new board for is to remove the contentions between existing agencies, which it sharply criticizes.

From what Mr. Roosevelt said, it appears the administration will come along next week with a program from the labor-management advisory committee, which works under Manpowerer McNutt, who thinks a compulsory draft is the solution.

These expressions of Tolson's committee, Roosevelt and McNutt drew the attention of the country. But, while they were speaking, a small war materials manufacturer from Milwaukee, appeared in some obscurity before the senate labor committee, and suggested what seems to be a plainer analysis of the problem and a simpler solution.

His point was that this is a problem of individuals, and no fair or efficient over-all regulations can remedy it. It was in his factory that the mechanic was drafted and the bookkeeper left on.

He said further, that he had spent a year hunting a cost accountant, without whom his business could not be efficiently operated, but as soon as the man was broken in, he was drafted.

The importance of each man to this business, varied not alone on his job as mechanic, accountant or bookkeeper, but on a basis of experience. Key men in any department simply could not be replaced.

His problem also varied with those of other similar manufacturers (steam engines, small boat engines) doing war work in other sections.

If his business was in New York, for instance, he would have no difficulty on replacements. And the larger industries in Detroit, he noted, would not miss any ten men as much as he might miss one.

There are about 650,000 people in his area, he testified, but only 100,000 could be classified as a gross workers pool from which to seek replacements, while New York and Detroit could draw on millions.

His problem is the whole problem. His experience shows that any efficient management of manpower must consider the specific condition of the individual worker, and the specific need of the individual plant, the individual locality.

No two are alike. Obviously, no regulations can be drawn up in Washington which will solve all fairly and efficiently. Nor will reorganization, more reorganization and still more reorganization of existing agencies do the job.

To get at it, there must be a thorough investigation of each individual case by a competent government agent. Each draft board must have at its disposal a staff which can ascertain facts, not from a complicated questionnaire, but by personal inquiry.

There are vast governmental agencies already flung on a "regional, district and local office level" around the country (Social Security, Public Health, National Youth Administration, agriculture, with its county agents, many others.)

On individual plant problems, there are regional, district and local engineers of the War Production Board and the Office of

Bar Association's Meeting Here One of History's Best

Rockford to Entertain 6th District Assn. at Its Next Meeting

One of the most successful meetings of the Sixth Judicial District Bar Association since its organization concluded here yesterday afternoon in the business session at which officers were chosen and Rockford was selected as the next convention site, with the Winnebago County Bar hosts at the annual winter gathering.

Charles H. Green, of Freeport was elected president, John L. Brearton of Savanna, vice president; Harold H. Jordan of Elgin, treasurer and John R. Snively of Rockford, secretary. None of the candidates were opposed for office and Secretary Snively was returned to office for the 14th consecutive year.

At the afternoon session, Elmer M. Leeman of Chicago talked on the subject, "The Proposed Law of Property Act". Fremont M. Kaufman of this city, federal rent administrator, explained the rent control plan with a defense area. Attorney H. C. Warner conducted an informal forum during which various problems and activities of the legal profession were discussed. The purpose of the forum was to secure ideas to be submitted to the state association of which Attorney Warner is the second vice president.

Following the luncheon yesterday noon at the Elks club house, Justice William J. Fulton of the Supreme Court of Illinois gave a resume of the members of this body. He was followed by Clarence W. Diver, president of the Illinois Bar Association, who made many references to the profession as viewed by the public eye.

Lawyers Do Part

"The lawyers of this country, in keeping with the traditions of our nation, have done their part willingly and in numerous ways if they are doing in the present war effort. The legal profession has been the brunt of numerous and varied criticisms in many ways, but continues to function under all conditions, and it is the attorneys' desire to be of service in their communities at all times."

"Some of the older members of the profession probably are slow to see the need for changes in the profession which are taking place both in social and economic affairs, but these things must be met and studied."

In his closing remarks, President Diver made a reference to legislation affecting the people as a whole and said:

"The people have got to assume the bossship in this scheme of things which we call government. To accomplish this purpose they must go to the polls and vote at every election and by their voting power make right the wrongs instead of sitting back and not voting, then criticizing things of which they do not approve."

—The National Curse—Whisky Oct. 25th is World Temperance Sunday, when church schools throughout the world will be studying steps toward solution of the alcohol problem—

Price Administration, who could size up individual manpower problems without additional cost to the taxpayers.

Some congressional testimony suggests this is being done in Britain. The system of district quotas and over-all national regulations is reinforced there by personal investigation of an army man or a branch official of the draft administration.

Because Britain does it, does not necessarily mean it is good. But if they can reduce such a vast problem involving several million men into the fair adjustment of each individual problem of each man, certainly we can do it.

Then, at least, some one will be responsible if absurdities occur.

Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 22—Have it your way, and you may be correct in hoping that ex-Justice James F. Byrnes will give an intellectually honest and nonpolitical administration of the office of Director of Economic Stabilization, but you have to judge him by past performances and that opinion which he read in the teamsters' case runs dead against you. I may harp on it, but it is terribly important to all Americans, for it constitutes a license for a brown shirt army to prey on the whole community, subject, of course, to some molestation by local prosecutors, most of whom, however, will be of the party in power and thus political partners of the goons and not likely to trouble them much. Moreover, the local prosecutors take their law from the Supreme Court and they would not want to prosecute a goon for extortion, as such, under a state law, knowing that the Supreme Court, speaking through Justice Byrnes, had sanctioned and sanctified the same thing under the definition of legitimate union activity and under another law.

How does this opinion constitute a license to a brown shirt army?

Well, this is how: If a gang calling itself a union, as in the teamsters' case, has a right to stick you up on the road when you are delivering a load of produce and make you pay tribute without offering to work for the money, as Justice Byrnes admitted the teamsters did, what is to prevent other gangs from adopting the same immunity everywhere? Why should they work for a living or for the war?

Suppose you are running a little shop or a store.

Along comes a member of the gang and says he wants $10 a day from you. You say nothing doing, so he comes back with some more of the gang and beats you up, so you pay and pass on the cost to your customers through increased prices. Certainly you have local laws against assault and robbery, but remember this: The Supreme Court has held that Congress recognized this kind of doing as legitimate activity.

Did the teamsters really beat up people?

Let Justice Byrnes answer that: "There was sufficient evidence," he said, "to warrant a finding that the defendants . . . did use violence and threats to obtain money from the owners of each truck entering New York."

Did they refuse to work for the money?

He answers that question, too, in these words:

"In several cases, the jury could have found that the defendants . . . refused to work for the money when asked to do so."

Chief Justice Stone, dissenting, said: "There is abundant evidence . . . from which the jury could have concluded that . . . the payments were made . . . to purchase immunity from the violence of the respondents and for no other reason; and that this was the end knowingly sought by respondents," meaning the defendant teamsters many of whom were not working-men at all but common, low-down criminals.

He added that "when the anti-racketeering act was under consideration by congress, no member of congress and no labor leader had the temerity to suggest that such payments, made only to secure immunity from violence and intentionally compelled by the assault and battery, could be regarded as the payment of wages by a bona fide employer, or that the compulsion of such payments

Mistakes Uncle for Burglar; Shoots Him

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Stanley Zobel, 40, a bartender, was shot and seriously wounded today and, police said his nephew, Walter Layfield, had fired at his uncle, mistaking him for a burglar. Zobel, who was employed in Layfield's tavern, was shot in the stomach and arm. His left arm was amputated at the elbow. Police said that Layfield, who lives above the tavern, had heard Zobel close the place and later when he heard noises in the saloon he believed it was being burglarized. He fired at the man, he said, when he failed to identify himself. Zobel, however, had returned to the tavern shortly after closing it.

is a legitimate object of a labor union, or even was made so by any statute of the United States".

What about background?

Well, on the west coast, Dave Beck, the dictator of the same union, just nonchalantly put down an embargo on California beer entering Washington and Oregon because the California Brewery Workers' Union wouldn't release their truckers to his union. The California brewers were helpless. It wasn't their fight.

The people of Washington and Oregon who may have wanted California beer couldn't have it because Beck said they couldn't. That would be a fine way to bankrupt a whole industry and a dictator then could buy it in and operate it as a legitimate union activity. That is the way it happened in Germany.

What else?

Well, old Dan Tobin, the head man of the teamsters, is a kiver-to-kiver new dealer and no wonder, after that Byrnes decision, and his council has decided to spend out of the kitty containing $1,500,000 of idle money as much as may be necessary to elect a new deal congress.

And the AFL is demanding an "investigation" of Thurman Arnold, the assistant attorney general who brought the action against the teamsters in New York, for daring to challenge the right of unions to commit highway robbery, and Joe Padway, the hoodlums' mouthpiece who served Scallie and the Browne-Bloff racket as counsel, is counsel also for the AFL and the teamsters and he and Tobin went to England only recently as "labor" emissaries for the new deal party.

Do you think I am overdriving this and needlessly casting doubt on Mr. Byrnes' fitness by reason of his past performances, before he has a chance to get started on a job that means everything to all of us? I certainly hope I am.

Myers, Nolan Win 2 From Pace Setters

Reynolds Wire Upset By Sixth-Place Round-Up 3 Straight

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE

Major League, Fri., 7 p. m.
Sweeney & Oester — Freeman
Hub Tavern — Dixon Paint
The Hunter Co. — Sunnybrook
Lepper Motor — Reynolds Wire

The Commercial league runner-up, Sparky's Fenders, gained a notch on the National Tea outfit by virtue of its two out of three victory over Dixon Hatchery last night.

However, the pace setters still maintain a commanding lead, despite the fact that they could win only one from Myers & Nolan.

This victory gave the clothing aggregation a clear title to third place, one game back of Sparky's and four lengths off the lead.

The sixth-place Round-Up team pulled the upset of the evening by knocking off Reynolds Wire three straight.

The Dixon Telegraph bunch, victorious in two games played this season, lost three in a row to the Stables.

Proff and Becker were the league record breakers, the former establishing a new individual game mark, 240, while the latter rolled a loop series high, 635.

Minn. Foreward Wall Strong As Ever This Year

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The axiom that football games are won in the line, barring major "breaks," finds few dissenters nowadays, so don't sell Minnesota short in its little Brown Jug tussle with Michigan Saturday.

Development of the Gopher line is being supervised again this year by Dr. George Hauser, head coach, who was line mentor the last 10 years while Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman was at the helm.

And the play of Gopher lines during that decade, especially against Michigan, has been little short of marvelous. For in the last 10 games, the Wolverines have scored only four touchdowns against Minnesota, and three of them were through the air.

But, you say, this is another year and the Gophers have been beaten twice; perhaps Michigan has nothing to worry about in the 1942 Minnesota line. No, the line still is okay.

Pitt scored once in Minnesota's opener this year, on a kick-off run-back; Iowa Navy's one touchdown came on a punt return; Illinois got one of its three scores when a guard stole the ball from a Gopher back, and another by recovering a bad center pass in the end zone, and Nebraska didn't cross the final stripe. So there's one touchdown against the line in four games.

J. C. Carroll, a clam raiser in Seattle, Wash., sued for $8000 because steamships caused his clams to shut up.

Three-Year-Old Mixup Remains a Turf Omelet

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The three-year-old racing scramble, a much muddled mixup between Shut Out and Alsab, is going to remain a turf omelet for the remainder of the year.

The plans for Equipoise's best son and the Al Sabath colt to settle the championship between them were flattened today when it was learned that Shut Out came sore in his latest race and would be retired until 1943.

Thus the three-year-old throne for 1942 will have to be a two-seater.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's chocolate charger winner of the Kentucky Derby and Belmont stakes, certainly looked like the head man in the spring out the Chicago express came along to win the Preakness and finished seven and a half lengths in front of Shut Out in the Galt Fox handicap Wednesday. The four-year-old filly, Dark Discovery, "stole" that race from both of them, however, by taking a long early lead and hanging on.

Badgers Will Meet Purdue

Perennial Darkhorse In Spot to Cop Title This Season

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 23.—(AP)—For the last nine years, Wisconsin has been tagged the Western Conference darkhorse before the season began and just the horse after it ended. It may be a different story this fall.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher's Badgers, undefeated in five games, launches its conference season against the Purdue Boilermakers Saturday before a homecoming crowd.

On the basis of their victories over Camp Grant, Marquette, Missouri and Great Lakes, and their 7-7 tie with Notre Dame, Wisconsin is heavily backed to defeat Purdue and thoroughly dissipate the time worn jinx of the Boilermakers' Ross-Ade stadium.

The Badgers' first victory in the stadium in 14 years came two years ago when they roared to a pair of touchdowns in the last six minutes to win, 14 to 13.

Elmer Burnham, Purdue's new coach, is working on this stadium jinx angle, predicting that it will spur his team to its best performance of the season. The Boilermakers' early prestige in upsetting Northwestern was largely dissolved with last Saturday's 26 to 0 beating by Ohio State. Purdue made only one first down, gained a net 14 by rushing and failed to complete a pass in 13 attempts.

Harder Ready Behind Wisconsin's renaissance this year has been fullback Pat Harder, now recovered from a leg injury, halfback Elroy Hirsch, and Dave Schreiner, tackle Paul Hirsch, guard Ken Currier, quarterback Jack Wink and center Fred Negus. Hirsch, Negus, Wink and Currier are sophomores.

Three other conference games round out one of the Midwest's most important Saturday programs.

Michigan at Minnesota—Michigan last won from the Gophers in 1932. Michigan also won in 1931. In 1931 Fritz Crisler, now Wolverine coach, was head mentor and athletic director at Minnesota. This traditional battle is for the little brown jug.

Iowa at Indiana—it's the Hoosier's homecoming. In the series between the two schools Iowa has won six times, Indiana three and three games have been tied. Ohio State at Northwestern—the Buckeyes best bet is sophomore Gene Fekete who has averaged 13 points per game while Northwestern has averaged just nine points a game.

The other major Midwest attractions send Notre Dame to Illinois, Great Lakes to Michigan State, and Arizona to Marquette. The best the Illini have been able to do against the Irish in five games was a scoreless tie in 1937. Notre Dame won, 49 to 14, last year.

Escaped Convict Is Questioned in Holdups

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A man who identified himself as Eddie James, alias Edward Morgan, 26, an escaped convict from the Pontiac, Ill., state prison farm, was questioned by police yesterday in connection with two finance company holdups in which $470 was stolen.

Police said they picked up James shortly after Queens and Brooklyn finance companies reported holdups.

The same man made both holdups, police believe.

Hammerin' Henry Hits the Comeback Trail for Glory

Wide World Features

Los Angeles—Hammerin' Henry Armstrong, cyclonic little Negro battler who once held three world championships, yearns for the days of past glory.

Hank weighed 165 pounds two months ago, when he looked over the field in the lightweight division and decided he could pin back Champion Sammy Angott's ears. Recently, he climbed into a Los Angeles ring and knocked out Juan Zurita, considered a challenger for Angott's title, in the second round.

Weighed 142

Armstrong weighed 142 pounds. He lashed out at the opening bell and carried the battle to the Mexican, applying the windmill tactics that used to wear down all opposition. Yet, at the time of the knockout, Zurita was ahead on points.

Armstrong's timing was off and he missed frequently. "But I can hit harder now than ever," Hank declares. "Sure, I'm slower than I was, but my eyes are good and I definitely am back on the comeback trail. The scar tissue around my eyes has healed completely. Eighteen months of rest did that. I'm strong and I can get down to 135 and beat Angott."

But Hank parried the reminder he had to go to the rubbing room twice before he could make 142 for Zurita.

Armstrong figures he will get a shot at Angott by the expedient of beating Fritz Zivic, the boy who took the welterweight championship from him. The Zivic match, twelfth in Armstrong's comeback schedule, will be held Oct. 26 in San Francisco.

Return Bout "I want to reverse that one against Zivic," Hank says, "and if I do I plan to go to Hot Springs, Ark., and take the baths. I feel sure I can work down to the lightweight limit and still be strong. The lightweight title is my goal. The welterweight division? Well, that is vacant. Fred Cochrane is in the army."

The urge for Hustlin' Hank is more than money—he's comfortably situated financially—and it concerns nothing more than retrieving lost prestige.

Barker Sees Notre Dame Over Illinois

Picks Michigan Over Minnesota; Buckeyes to Down Wildcats

By HERB BARKER

New York, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Taking the usual scatter-shot at the weekly football program

Notre Dame-Illinois: The renaissance of Illinois football under Ray Eliot has been one of the season's chief high-spots. Notre Dame, after a disappointing start reached a peak against Iowa preflight and seems ready to move on. This looks like an even proposition from any angle and the coin spins... Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech-Navy: Navy has done nothing this season to warrant this vote going anywhere but to Georgia Tech.

Army-Harvard: Harvard hasn't won one yet and this hardly seems the spot for the Crimson to begin.

Michigan-Minnesota: The Wolverines have a scoring punch against top-flight competition. Minnesota has been a far cry from the machines Bernie Bierman sent to the football wars, Michigan.

Ohio State-Northwestern: In which the nation's current No. 1 ranking team meets a dangerous rival. Ohio State but the Buckeyes will need to watch Otto Graham.

Duke-Pitt: The astonishing rout of Colgate indicated the Dukes have gotten themselves organized.

Alabama-Kentucky: On the face of the records, Alabama should be a sure thing. They don't pay off on the records but just the same, Alabama.

Southern California-Stanford: Maybe the Trojans can roll two Saturdays in a row. Southern California.

Columbia-Penn: The Lions appear over-matched. Penn.

Brown-Princeton: The Tigers have been responsible for two big surprises in beating Navy and tying Penn. This vote for Brown merely expresses doubt that Princeton can do it three weeks in a row.

Dartmouth-Yale: Probably close. Dartmouth.

Iowa-Indiana: Very tough indeed. Out of the hat, Indiana.

Wisconsin-Purdue: Purdue badgered. Wisconsin.

Great Lakes-Michigan State: Taking Great Lakes.

Iowa State-Missouri: Should be easy for Missouri.

Nebraska-Oklahoma: Taking Nebraska.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Tulsa over St. Louis; Lafayette over Virginia; Marquette over Arizona; Georgia over Cincinnati; and Oklahoma A. and M. over Washington (St. Louis).

Don Hutson added another record to his long string of superlative performances when he gained 209 yards on passes against Cleveland last week. The previous record was 180 yards set by Don Looney in Davey O'Brien's last game in the National league in 1940.

Army-Navy Game Shifted to Annapolis

Only Residents of City May Buy Tickets, FDR Orders

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 23.—(AP)

—The Army-Navy football game, a victim of its own popularity has been shifted from Philadelphia's mammoth stadium to the Naval academy's 22,000-seat arena as a war economy measure by President Roosevelt.

In a season during which other gridiron contests have shown a drastic falling off in attendance, the battle of the two service elevens was expected to draw its customary 100,000 spectators and the president last night ordered the transfer to save tires and gasoline and to keep the railroads open for more important travel.

The White House statement which accompanied the announcement warned that tickets for the classic be sold "only to residents of Annapolis—not to outsiders" and hinted that the game might be the last meeting of the two for the duration of the war by saying that "the game was scheduled before war was declared and its cancellation at this late date undoubtedly would cause great disappointment."

Annapolis, capital of Maryland, had a population of slightly more than 13,000 in 1940 and is believed near 16,000.

The White House statement warned specifically against persons living in Baltimore and Washington obtaining pasteboards for the game.

Supprise to West Point Last year 56 special trains were needed to move the civilian spectators and cadets to Philadelphia.

The series was started in 1891 at Annapolis with the second game played at West Point the following year.

Since then it has become the nation's most glamorous gridiron spectacle with 110,000 seeing the 21-21 tie in Chicago in 1926 and 102,000 watching the 1936 battle in Philadelphia.

Despite rumors of a probable transfer of the game, the actual switch apparently was a surprise to athletic officials at West Point.

There was no immediate indication how many tickets had been sold and how or when the money would be refunded.

Earlier this season both schools displayed ingenuity in bringing their student bodies to games without overtaxing the already crowded transportation facilities by use of river boat steamers, but use of boats to move the West Pointers to either Annapolis or Philadelphia, however, would entail traveling on the open seas, and the plan never was considered seriously.

Plans to Provide Tires for All May Be Known Nov. 15

Detroit, Oct. 23—(AP)—The government's plan to provide tires for all motorists—but on a rigidly controlled basis—probably will be made known by November 15, according to informed automotive sources. The program, predicated upon the reduction of driving to little more than the absolutely essential, will be made possible by a substantial increase in the production of re-processed or reclaimed rubber casings. As currently contemplated, production of reclaimed rubber tires of not more than four ounces of new rubber each may reach 25,000,000 units during the 12 months ending October 31, 1943. To these may be added something like 6,000,000 tires expected to be turned over by car owners in the present collection of excess holdings and perhaps as many more from stocks of new casings on hand when new tire sales were frozen. Under the program any motorist complying with the rules essential to obtaining an "A" gasoline rationing card would be able to obtain a replacement tire by proving need. The authorization would come through his rationing board, which would determine whether he should receive a re-capped tire, one of the new re-claimed rubber or "Victory" casings, or a pre-war grade of tire. A feature of the program, however, will be the premise that any motorist entitled to an "A" gasoline rationing card will be eligible for some kind of serviceable replacement tire when his need arises.

HORSE LOVER
A story goes that King George IV lay dying as the results of the Goodwood races were brought to him in 1830. He had instructed postboys to be stationed at intervals between Goodwood and Windsor Castle to carry him the results of the race. One of his three entrants, Fleur-de-lis, won, so the king died happy.

the Harmon township school and West Brooklyn parochial school, the estimated weight in each exceeded 15,000 pounds. Final figures will not be available until the latter part of next week. Teachers in Dixon and throughout the county are urged to conduct an estimate of the total poundage of scrap metals collected and report to County Superintendent Torrens or Principal B. J. Frazer at their earliest convenience. Instructors were also urged to notify The Telegraph in the event that a school room has participated in the campaign 100 per cent and photographs of the group will be taken and published in this paper.

Senate Passage of should throw out protective hands about them. "If they are liquidated—these children—no generation will remain in this country to build it up after peace." Previously, Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) offered an amendment to the "teen-age draft bill" proposing abolition of the 40-hour week and premium pay for overtime. The senate, having pigeonholed a proposed amendment to prohibit sale or use of liquor in or around military posts, was driving for a final roll call on the bill by night-fall. The O'Daniel proposal was one of half a dozen amendments proposed. Chief among other amendments was one to keep 18 and 19 year old men out of combat troops until they had six months or a year of training.

Wet Issue Evaporated
The wet-dry issue evaporated for the time being yesterday when the senate voted, 49 to 25, to send back to its military committee an amendment by Senator Lee (D-Okl) which would have banned the sale of alcoholic drinks from military areas. Democratic leader Barkley (Ky) told reporters he hoped all other amendments could be beaten and the bill passed by night fall. The house approved a similar measure without restrictions, last Saturday.

Senator Thomas (A-Idaho) has proposed a year's training, despite the appeal of military leaders that they be left free in assigning the new men to units. There was some talk of halving this proposed time as a compromise. A half dozen other amendments also were pending as the second day of debate opened but sponsors of the measure, including its author, Senator Gurney (R-SD), said they believed most of them could be defeated easily.

Taft's Proposal
Senator Taft (R-Ohio) away on a speaking tour, proposed through Senator Danaher (R-Conn) that students in college or professional schools who fell within the proposed new 18-19 age group be deferred while they completed training for essential military or civilian activities. Senator Nye (R-ND) sought to exempt selectees under 20 from combat service unless they volunteered for it and Senator Capper (R-Kan) planned an amendment to keep all of this group in non-combatant units until they reached 20. Also pending was a proposal by Senator Wiley (R-Wis) moralizing that the states to remove any age restrictions they might have which would prevent members of the armed forces from voting.

Red Gains Detailed
Soviet headquarters and military dispatches gave this account of new Red gains:

1. Capture of another key position along the 40-mile corridor between the Don and Volga rivers, where Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief armies have been conducting a series of large-scale trench raids against the vital German left flank.

2. Defeat of a tank-led German infantry assault in Stalingrad's northwest industrial section, where the defenders improved their positions in several streets after crushing the Nazi drive.

3. Seizure of two lines of enemy trenches on the northwest steppes, now bogged down in mud and snow.

The Russians said about 500 axis troops were killed in a two-day fight above the city during which soviet forces recaptured a sentinel hill and held it against counterattacks.

Berlin dispatches reported "mud and water everywhere" along the central and northern sectors of the long battlefield and declared that all except the largest trucks equipped with caterpillar tread were mired.

during the first part of her visit. She, no doubt, will see Prime Minister and Mrs. Churchill and other important personalities as well as the royal family. Included so far on her itinerary are visits to the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, the Auxiliary Territorial Service and the Women's Royal Naval Service. She also is expected to view the civil defense system and women at work in industry. When she reached the station at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m., Central War Time) she was greeted by United States Ambassador John G. Winant and members of the British cabinet.

Station Decorated

Although the date and place of her arrival had not been announced, the advance preparations, including decoration of the platform with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack, had attracted a sizeable crowd to the station.

For several blocks around policemen were posted at every street corner and inside the station onlookers, including many American soldiers, were held back by wooden barriers.

At the point where the First Lady stepped from her car, a red carpet had been laid out, surrounded by a wooden fence draped with the British flag.

King George was the first to greet her. He shook hands, followed by the queen, and the three stood chatting and smiling for a while.

The king introduced Eden to the American First Lady. The train arrived a minute ahead of time. The platform interviews took less than five minutes and then, with the big crowd cheering, Mrs. Roosevelt drove off with the king and queen.

The War Today

high throughout the country.

Because Cripps overnight became a world figure and because many people believe he may one day be prime minister I'm going to interrupt the Indian discussion to deal with him personally. I'd like you to get a glimpse of this man of whom you probably will hear much more as the time goes on. Sir Stafford is 53, tall, slim and straight with graying hair. He has an agreeable smile and probably is good looking, though the thing that impresses me about his face is the strength of his lines. He is pleasant to meet, though he decidedly isn't the type which invites free and easy approach by strangers.

He is outspoken and the one thing I feel sure about is that he is frank. I looked him squarely in the eye and read sincerity there. Beyond that, however, I wouldn't want to bet any essential part of my wardrobe. Actually Cripps is an enigma, even to his friends.

Some call him vaguely a "leftist" and some "extremist". Well, so far as I'm concerned, those two expressions no longer have any exact meaning. They seem to represent a person who wants to take away from you something that you want to keep.

On that basis Cripps likely is a "leftist" or "extremist". I judge he holds views about sharing which aren't popular among the imperialists and vested interests. For instance he said to me:

"I believe in granting the Indians 100 per cent self-government. I always have believed in that."

Well now that is very strong mustard for anyone who wants to keep a string on the vast Indian empire. It brings tears to their eyes and makes them think harsh things about Sir Stafford.

Sir Stafford speaks in the highest terms of Gandhi as one of the great thinkers and leaders of our time.

"I believe Gandhi is quite sincere," he said, "but with his passionate belief in non-violence he must keep the congress non-violent and so non-cooperative with a government which is at war."

"He is the greatest single influence in India, or at least in the All-India Congress. We must have the congress for any complete solution."

"The tragedy of it is from the Indian standpoint that had there been an agreement and had government been set up through a council with the viceroy Indians would have absolute control of the situation."

I asked Sir Stafford if there still were a chance for a settlement. He nodded but it wasn't a hopeful gesture.

Here's What Illinois Candidates Say in Their Campaigns

REPUBLICAN

Chicago, Oct. 23—(AP)—Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, campaigning for reelection on the Republican ticket, said in a radio address last night, "we must preserve our two party system of government under the greatest nation on earth x x x."

"The arrogant political machine in Illinois, dominated by Kelly-Nash," said the senator, "has become desperate. They are resorting to tricks and treachery x x x in their mad attempt to wipe out x x x the right of the people of Illinois to be represented in the senate and in the congress by anyone who is not first hand picked by them x x x."

Gov. Hugh Cross, in a speech endorsing Brooks, said "not one of the Messrs. Kelly-Nash-McKeough (the latter, Raymond S. McKeough, Brooks' opponent on the Democratic ticket), saw fit to enlist and fight for the honor and safety of our country in any war. Sen. Brooks did, x x x Yet these ambitious ingrates now challenge the patriotism of Brooks x x x."

DEMOCRATIC
Chicago, Oct. 23—(AP)—In a joint statement, Albert J. Horan and Edward Allen said yesterday that if Governor Green would stay in Springfield "instead of running around the state making speeches wherever three people gather for a dogfight, we might possibly have a creditable administration of our prisons and state institutions."

Horan, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic county central committee, and Allen, Democratic state chairman, continued, "if the governor had not played politics x x x and not been interested in handing out political plums x x x there would have been no break at Joliet."

The statement criticized Republican state officials and characterized Sen. C. Wayland Brooks as "America's No. 1 wrong-guesser."

Chicago, Oct. 23—(AP)—In the Nov. 3 election, Representative Raymond S. McKeough said in a radio address last night, there are two camps: one, composed of those who "stand with the commander-in-chief," and the other, supported by "obstructionists, appeasers, isolationists."

McKeough, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, and opponent of Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, said of the opposition camp, "their standard bearers are the Brooks, Days and Strattons—stooges of the stronger minds which control them. They have hindered and delayed the war progress in the past; they have misread the signs which were clear and which warned of the approaching storm x x x."

Of his own group, the Democratic candidate said "they stand not only for victory on the military front, but for a victorious peace—a peace which the whole world will bind itself to respect, and organize to enforce."

(By The Associated Press)

Navy disclosures yesterday of the destruction of two American cargo ships in the North Atlantic raised to 503 The Associated Press count of announced neutral and allied nations merchant losses in enemy action in western Atlantic waters since Dec. 7, 1941.

One ship was assaulted by aircraft in July and, after being abandoned, was sunk as a menace to navigation. Two torpedoes sank the other ship last month, with the probable loss of three lives.

Odyssey of United States Bomber Crew In New Guinea Told

Washington, Oct. 23—(AP)—The Odyssey of an American Army bomber crew that bombed a Japanese ship, helped shoot down five enemy fighters, negotiated a difficult crash landing and then spent several pleasant days with New Guinea natives before being rescued was related today by the war department.

In the adventure, which occurred in August, the sole casualty was Corp. Michael R. Andrade, Buffalo, N. Y., side gunner of the Flying Fortress bomber. Andrade suffered a leg injury.

Most of the crew of nine were on their first or second combat mission when the bomber was sent Aug. 9 on a high altitude attack over the Lakulal airbase at Rabaul, New Britain. The pilot was Capt. Harry J. Hawthorne, Iowa Park, Texas.

After scoring a hit on an enemy vessel in Rabaul harbor, Hawthorne's bomber and another of the same type shot down five Japanese Zero planes in a tangle with 20 enemy fighters.

Landed at Night
The crash landing was made at night, when the fuel supply ran low after ten and a half hours in the air. The plane was brought down without injury to the crew in two feet of water on a coral reef south of New Guinea.

In their life rafts, the nine men headed for shore, the war department related, and were overtaken en route by natives in a canoe who assured them they were friendly to Americans.

A small launch transported the stranded party the next day to a native village. There the natives were presented with several silk parachutes to make sarongs to replace their grass skirts. The launch next removed the group to Milne Bay, New Guinea, from where the men were flown back to their base in a rescue bomber.

Captain Hawthorne was awarded the Army's silver star decoration. Other members of his crew included:

Second Lieut. Robert J. Haase, bombardier, Clintonville, Wis. Staff Sgt. Milton F. Kelm, engineer, Stillwater, Minn.

Private First Class Arnold G. Osborn, radio operator, St. Joseph, Mo.

To Continue Making Automobile Batteries

Chicago, Oct. 23—(AP)—J. J. Donovan, assistant chief of the WPB automotive branch, says the WPB intends to see that sufficient batteries are manufactured to maintain present automotive transportation, including passenger cars, in accordance with the necessity brought out by the Baruch report.

Donovan told the Association of American Battery Manufacturers yesterday that motorists, when their present batteries are no longer usable, may purchase new ones provided they turn in the old.

War Trophies to Scrap—Washington, Oct. 23—(AP)—The foretop of the battleship Maine, long displayed as an historic relic at Annapolis is going on the scrap heap. The Navy announced today that trophies and relics of five wars would be collected at the Naval Academy to be sold and melted down to provide weapons for this war as part of the nationwide scrap salvage campaign.

President Non-Committal—Washington, Oct. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that Japan would be violating the Geneva convention on treatment of war prisoners if she carried out threats she has been making against captured American aviators. But he declined to say whether this country might take action in reprisal, remarking that he would be getting in too deep if he commented on that point.

The article in last evening's Telegraph, stating that city and county officers had placed Halloween depredations in the classification of sabotage in a defense area, he approved of heartily, but suggested that the air raid wardens in each precinct, serve in the protection of property.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Pride

Pride, the most dangerous of all faults, proceeds from want of sense, or want of thought.

—Dillon.

Pride is to the character, like the attic to the house—the highest part, and generally the most empty.

—John Gay.

Pride is seldom delicate; it will please itself with very mean advantages.

—Samuel Johnson.

Pride is ignorance; those assume most who have the least wisdom or experience; and they steal from their neighbor, because they have so little of their own.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

Men are sometimes accused of pride merely because their accusers would be proud themselves if they were in their places.

—Shenstone.

If a man has a right to be proud of anything, it is of a good action done as it ought to be, without any base intention lurking at the bottom of it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Our Individual Habits Help to Build Or Tear Down Morale of the Nation

Text: Eccles. 10:17; Amos 5:21-24; Romans 14:19-21; II Cor. 6:17; I Peter 4:1-5

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

Five passages from various portions of Scripture are brought together in this temperance lesson to emphasize the importance of healthy and normal living in personal life, and of wholesome personal life and consideration for others as the foundation of social welfare.

Personal bad habits and anti-social practices go back a long way in human history. Man is a very perverse creature, not totally depraved, but subject to weakness, resentful of restraint and discipline, and not always willing to do what is for his own best good, or to avoid what is hurtful to himself or to others.

Personal conduct is bound up with social results. The strength and character of a people or a nation are determined by the sort of life the individuals are living. The virtues of the good and well-disciplined may offset the weakening effects of the careless, the evil minded, and self-indulgent; but the weakening effects are there, and they lower a nation's morale as they impair its actual strength.

The corrupt or dissolute man may say that his actions and habits are his own affair, that they concern nobody but himself, but in evil as in good no man liveth and no man dieth to himself. We are members one of another.

Personal conduct may have far-reaching and incalculable results. Even in times of perplexity, when vision is not always clear, if a man's heart is in the right place and his action in the right direction he cannot know how much he may achieve.

It was "a certain man" (I Kings 22:34) who "drew a bow at a venture," but the arrow of that ancient unknown soldier, aimed in the right direction and with the right purpose, killed King Ahab and demoralized the opposing army. To a modern sharpshooter it might seem the height of inefficiency and futility, but the soldier did what he could. It is a great deal to be and to do the best that is possible, no matter what the circumstances.

Our lesson opens with a one-verse philosophy of kings and government from Ecclesiastes. Happy is the land, it says, that has for its king a "son of nobles," and whose princes "eat in due season, for strength and not for drunkenness." It might be translated "a son of freedom," but whatever the words, the meaning seems clear. Nobility of birth has not always meant nobility of character, but how different the history of the world might have been if its kings and princes had been men of temperate ways, sound principles and good sense!

The famous passage from Amos, and the equally famous passage in which Paul, a champion of personal liberty, commends consideration for others, are enforced by the appeal to dare to stand out for what is right, and by Peter's injunction to follow the example of Christ with the warning that we shall surely give account of our lives to "Him that is ready to judge the living and the dead."

There is plenty in this lesson to keep one thinking, and plenty that applies to our own times.

Gasoline Moonshiners May Become a Problem

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 23—(AP)—Victor F. Barnett, chairman of Tulsa's war transportation committee, warned today that gasoline moonshiners may make enforcement of rationing a problem in some oil-producing areas.

"It is too easy to make gasoline; much easier than it is to make moonshine whiskey," he declared.

"This section abounds in crude oil. A motorist can make his own gasoline from crude. Of course, it's unsafe but all he needs is a drum which can stand some heat."

Barnett said that by heating a drum of crude oil and condensing the vapors that boil off, a gasoline of about 50 octane could be obtained. Present standard brand gasolines are about 70-72 octane. While the fuel made by such gasoline moonshine methods would be inferior and cause motor knock, it would be usable.

"The time might even come," he smiled, "when a motorist whose car knocks excessively may be suspect."

U. S. Bombers Strike at Mines in Hopeh

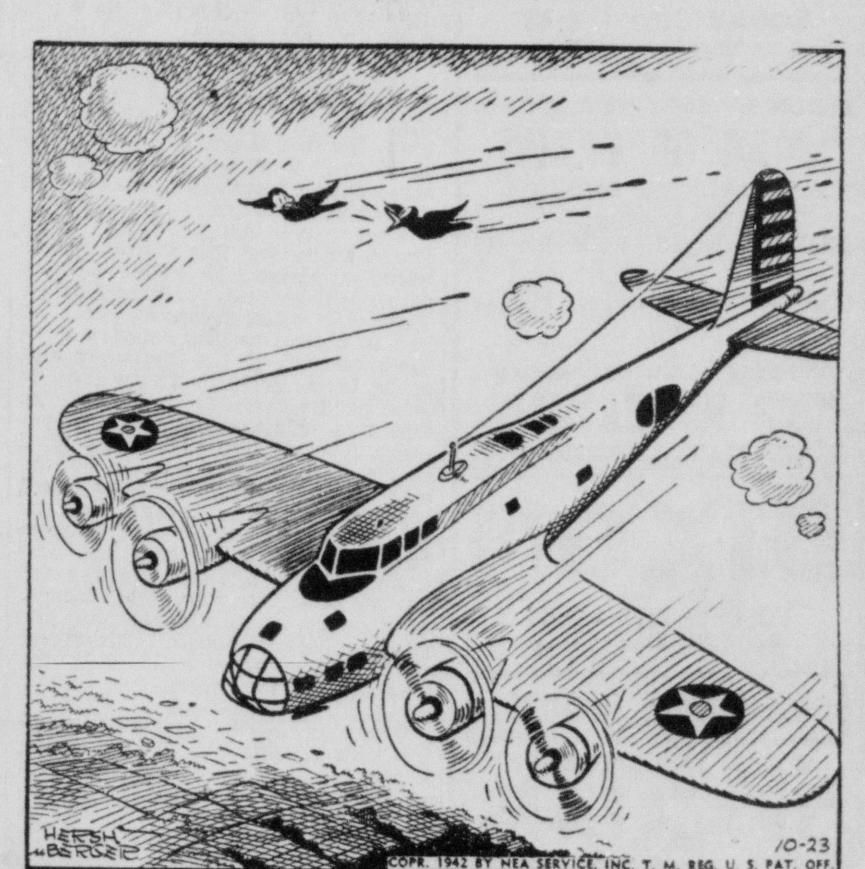

Chungking, Oct. 23—(AP)—United States Army bombers, striking far north in China, caused "serious damage" with many high explosive and incendiary hits on the Linsi mine installations in Hopeh province, a communiqué from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

All the American planes returned to their bases, it said.

Hopeh province is one of China's northernmost, bordering on Japanese-occupied Manchuria, and its coal deposits are in the northern hilly region. The mines of the Kaian mining administration are the largest, having had a pre-war capacity of 14,000 tons a day.
